

AREAS OF NON-COMPLIANCE

The CAA found the program to be not in compliance with the following Standards for Accreditation. Non-compliance means that the program does not have in place the essential elements necessary to meet the standard. The program must demonstrate its compliance with these standards when responding to prior concerns in the next annual report or reaccreditation application or by the time line specified below. The CAA will indicate in its review of that report whether the program has addressed these areas sufficiently to achieve compliance. Failure to demonstrate compliance with the standards may jeopardize the program's accreditation status or require the CAA to place the program on probation.

Standard 1.9: The program provides information about the program and the institution to students and to the public that is current, accurate, and readily available.

Evidence of non-compliance:

The program must publish to the general public on its website the program's CAA accreditation status, in accordance with the language specified in the Public Notice of Accreditation Status in the CAA as required under federal regulations. This must be displayed in a clearly visible and readily accessible location. Additional references to the program's accreditation status must be accurate but need not include all components of the accreditation statement. The accreditation statement on the program website, <https://www.csueastbay.edu/slhs/accreditation/index.html>, is missing the degree designator abbreviation and uses the word "degree" instead of "education." In addition, reference to filing a complaint with the CAA is part of the statement.

Steps to be Taken:

At the time of the annual report, document that the accreditation statement has been updated on the program website to include the degree designator abbreviation and word "education" as outlined below. In addition, separate the information the program remains not in full compliance with all standards, the CAA may act to place the program on probation or withdraw its accreditation status in accordance with the policy and procedures outlined in the Accreditation Handbook. The CAA may place a program on probation or withdraw accreditation from a program prior to this time when there is clear evidence of circumstances that jeopardize the capability of the program to provide acceptable educational experiences for the students.

PUBLIC DISCLOSURE OF THIS DECISION AND ACCREDITATION STATUS
